LICENSE AGREEMENT

I, Philip Sargent, understand that the National Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution ("NMNH") has extensive invertebrate collections and is currently engaged in a project that consists of: 1) preparing a variety of digital products related to the NMNH's invertebrate holdings, such as still images of specimens and collecting sites, still images and videotape recordings of live specimens and collecting activities, published and unpublished illustrations, published and unpublished manuscripts, field logs and other documents, 2) linking the resulting image file to the electronic catalog, and 3) making the material available to the public through NMNH's electronic on-line catalog at website, <http://www.mnh.si.edu/rc/db/collldb.html>

In connection with the project above, I, Philip Sargent, hereby grant to the NMNH a royalty-free, irrevocable, and non-exclusive license to use the materials specified below for the purposes of implementing, developing and exploiting the project above. Such uses shall include, but not be limited to, exhibition, related publicity, educational activities, archives, research, and publication in any exhibition catalogue, brochures, internet, and other publications created by or on behalf of NMNH. For these purposes, publications shall mean print, digital, electronic, and all other forms of media.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF MATERIALS

Hi Philip,

Good news! Thanks very much, for the specimen, and the data. I'll let you know when the specimen arrives and if I have any questions,

Best,

Ellen

Subject: Onchidiopsis corys Specimen

Hi Ellen:

I've managed to get the specimen and paperwork into the hands of the person responsible for shipping samples from the lab so hopefully she'll have it sent out this week or next. I forgot to mention but I also have the approximate co-ordinates of the site where this specimen was collected (taken from Google Earth). Here they are:

47° 06' 0.00" N; 52° 53' 47.00" W

Depth was roughly 14 m on a vertical rockface

If you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact me.

Cheers,

Philip
